Since its formation, CMH has provided historical support to the Army Secretariat and Staff, contributing essential background information for decision making, staff actions, command information programs, and public statements by Army officials. Over the decades it also has progressively expanded its role in the vital areas of military history education, the management of the Army's museum system, and the introduction of automated data retrieval systems. The Center's work with Army schools ensures that the study of history is a significant part of the training of officers and noncommissioned officers. It also supports the use of history to foster pride and give today's soldiers an understanding of the Army's past.

The library is intended for the exclusive use of court staff.			Law						The library collection consists of more than 30,000 books, including print and non-print material, periodicals, and CD-ROM titles. There is a variety of titles in English, Spanish, and a few in French. The collection is unique within the federal judiciary library system because its content represents a composite of common law, civil law (Spain and other jurisdictions), Puerto Rico law, and other reference materials. The aim of the library collection is to provide sources on a wide range of issues and legal areas peculiar to our legal system.

Acquired primarily through copyright deposit, exchange, gift and purchase, the collection spans the entire history of the cinema. The Library has been actively collecting motion pictures since 1912. Pough thanks to the generosity of Thomas Edison and other early film producers, beginning in 1894 thousands of films were deposited at the Library as still photographs. This Library of Congress began collecting films made for television in 1949 with the addition of a "Hoping Cassidy" feature. Because of such early acquisitions, the Library has been referred to as the "granary of television archives," and it continues to increase its television holdings today, adding them to the large general collection of moving image materials on film, videotape, and videodisc.
